

Culcairn Hospital Multi Purpose Service (MPS)

This project involved the demolition of existing buildings and construction of a new MPS healthcare facility, connected to the existing (RAC) Residential Aged Care facility known as Kiltearn House.

The northern part of the building is used for acute services including ambulatory care, emergency and inpatient. The southern part of the building is used for residential aged care.

The new Culcairn MPS now provides accommodation for 28 residential aged care residents and 7 acute patients, new emergency department bays and treatment spaces, new community health care spaces and on site staff accommodation.
